

Lindsay Wells, M.D.

Dr. Lindsay Wells is an Assistant Clinical Professor in both the department of Medicine and department of Pediatrics at UCLA. She completed a combined residency in Internal Medicine and Pediatrics at UCLA and joined the UCLA clinical faculty in 2012.

Her own personal experiences, volunteer work, and global health work in Malawi and Kenya influenced her decision to enter primary care and helped shape her commitment to promoting patient advocacy. She is the clinical director for the UCLA Internal Medicine-Pediatric Redondo Beach clinic. She also serves as a faculty advisor for the UCLA Department of Medicine-Health Services Academy High School Physician Shadowing Program, and is a member of both the Internal Medicine and Pediatric Diversity Committees and the UCLA School of Medicine Cultural Competency Committee. Lastly, she has served as a big sister mentor for the Big Brother Big Sister mentorship program since 2014.
