Differentiating Grants, Contracts, & Gifts

Grants

- A grant is a type of financial assistance awarded to an organization for the conduct of research or other program as specified in an approved proposal. For an award to be considered a grant, it will contain the following elements:
 - Statement of work allows the PI significant freedom to change the emphasis within the general area of work as the project progresses
 - Deliverables are minimal, consisting typically of reports
 - Separate accounting procedures are required
 - Grants most often use the cost-reimbursement method of payment

Contracts

- A contract is an agreement to acquire services that primarily benefit the sponsor. For an award to be considered a contract, it normally must contain all of the following elements:
 - Detailed financial and legal requirements included with a specific statement of work
 - A specific set of deliverables and/or reports to the sponsor
 - Separate accounting procedures
 - Legally binding contract clauses
- Contracts, by their nature, are restrictive, meaning there is little flexibility on the part of the academic department to rebudget funds without prior sponsor approval. Invoicing on contracts can be more complex, especially if tied in with milestones or tasks that must be completed by the PI before an invoice can be submitted and/or paid.

Gifts

- Gifts, bequests, and donations are awards given with few or no conditions specified. Gifts may be provided to establish an endowment or to provide direct support for an existing program. Frequently, gifts are used to support developing programs for which other funding is not available. The unique flexibility, or lack of restrictions, makes gifts attractive sources of support.

General Characteristics of Gifts

- Donor receives nothing in return (i.e. services, goods, etc.)
- No contractual obligations (i.e. no proposals, progress/financial reports)
- Awarded irrevocably (i.e. balance is never returned to donor)
- Voluntary transfer
- No specified performance period
- It is very important to appropriately characterize funding as grant, contract or gift prior to set up/expense!

Gift Management & Types

- Gift Accounting is handled by UCLA Corporate Accounting
- Gifts to UCLA are received through:
 - UC Regents (aka Regental)
 - UCOP
 - UCLA
 - UCLA Foundation (aka Foundation)

Types of Gift Funds: Regental & Foundation

UC Regents

- The Regents of the University of California is the name of a corporation established under the laws of the State of California and charged under the Constitution of the State with administering the University as a public trust. As such, the Regents are empowered : “To take and hold, either by purchase or by donation or gift, testamentary or otherwise, or in any manner, without restriction, all real and personal property for the benefit of the University or incidentally to its conduct.” Although the University welcomes and appreciates all gifts, there are instances where acceptances of gifts may not be beneficial to the University.

UCLA Foundation

- The UCLA Foundation is a nonprofit public-benefit corporation for the purpose of accepting and administering the full range of private contributions for UCLA. From its inception, the aim of the Foundation has been to link the professional and business worlds with the academic needs that cannot be met through the state and other resources. The Foundation is empowered by its charter to receive gifts of all kinds as a fully qualified charitable trust. One of the fundamental goals of the Foundation is to identify sources of unrestricted funds that can be applied according to the special needs of the campus.

The MTF (Monetary Transfer Form) System enables the transfer of money from Funds in The UCLA Foundation, where gifts are made, to Funds at UCLA, where the money is spent at the appropriate unit level of the University.

In the MTF system, personnel in the University prepare an MTF Request electronically, which must be approved at the Org/Division/Sub-Division/Department level, at which point it goes to The UCLA Foundation for final verification and processing of the transfer.

This system should not be confused with the Transfer of Funds System, which is the University's budgetary transfer system.
